NEW TRICKS FOR OLD CHURCHES

Traditional attitudes and assumptions that were once taken for granted are disappearing.

Our culture is changing and Christian Churches have to change with it – fast.

That doesn't mean changing the message, which is timeless and sacred, it means changing the methods through which a church connects with the people of its parish.

Parish churches were originally, the centre of their community. The chancel was reserved for worship but the nave was used for many purposes including drama, elections, public meetings and school classrooms. It was the Victorians at the height of the religious revival, who reclaimed the whole of church building for purely sacred purposes. In the last 50 years many churches have started to see their building as a practical asset in connecting with local people who may not want to come inside for worship. In some rural areas the church is the only focal point as local schools, post offices, shops and pubs disappear.

The Church of England has long accepted that a church building can have a variety of uses as long as its primary purpose as a place of worship remains and there is no conflict with Christian teaching. Some churches are already being used as libraries, outreach post offices, extra school classrooms and concert halls.

Contrary to what many people believe, the responsibility for maintaining and repairing each church lies with the local incumbent and each Parochial Church Council. There is no guaranteed state funding and the Church of England has no central funds. So 'Use it or lose it' is the watchword.

A Grade 2 listed Church in St Alban's was faced with closure. By keeping the chancel for worship and opening up the nave for community uses, it has turned itself around. The pews have been taken out, a wooden floor put in and a small kitchen and toilet installed at the base of the tower. The local primary school now uses it as their hall. It provides a venue for a play-group, youth group, IT learning, festivals and concerts. The changes have made it the physical centre of the village as well as the spiritual and social centre too.

St Columba's has made a promising start. With the help of the recently formed 'Friends of St Columba's' fundraising group, many improvements to the building have been made – including cushioned seating for the pews to make them more suitable for events such as 'Words & Music' and some of the musical events that are planned.

But the PCC wants to go further in making the building more flexible and is exploring possible options.

In the end it is for Collingtree parish to decide what is best for its church. Each generation is only the custodian of a building that has been around for 900 years – which is why the views of everyone in the parish who values St Columba's, are important.

Options for a more 'Open Church'

Subject to the agreement of the Church Authorities and obtaining the necessary funding, Collingtree PCC are considering possible changes to the facilities within St Columba's.

- Creating space at the rear of the church by replacing some pews with stackable chairs.
- Use of space by community groups for meetings, Coffee mornings etc.
- Moving the Font to the front of the church for better visibility at Christening services and creating more space at the rear.
- Installation of a Served Cabinet (possibly in the Bell Tower) to contain a small sink unit and storage for crockery.
- Installation of a toilet at the rear of the church. The location to be dictated by plumbing requirements and as agreed with the Diocese.

PARISH COUNCIL NEWS PARISH CLERK: TESS TAYLOR 07729784653 tessajtaylor@icloud.com

It is with great sadness that we have heard of the sudden death, on 25th August, of Parish Councillor Mary Brown. Mary was loved and respected in the parish and was also a member of the Friends of St Columba's Committee. Our thoughts are with Michael and the family.

Planning Matters (Toms Close) After the Parish Council meeting at which the developer attended to explain plans for two blocks of semi detached houses on the south - western corner of Toms Close - no decision has yet been made. It is understood that the plans are being amended.

Planning Matters (Golf Course development) Bovis are holding a public exhibition of their latest proposal/application on Thursday 12th September at Wootton Community Hall, Curtlee Hill, Wootton.

The exhibition will run from 3.30pm to 6.30pm and it is suggested that those interested attend this event if they can.

The Parish Council will then hold its own Public Meeting on this on Wednesday 18th September at 7.30pm in the Village Room.

The purpose of this meeting will be to gather local views to inform the response to be made by the Parish Council Street Lights - Parishioners are reminded that any matter concerning street lights can be raised with the Parish Council or with the Parish Council contractors E.ON on 01604 493743. Each lamp is numbered and having the number available will help.

Dog access slider - Barn Corner

This has been interfered with yet again. This time someone has taken the third one and put the second one back but cut out in the shape of a cartoon dog. Quite a prank but unfortunately, the sharp edges were very likely to injure a dog and so it has had to be removed. It would also have let out any livestock.

Please make any contact with the Parish Council through the Clerk, Tess Taylor, contact numbers above. Minutes of all meetings are placed in the Parish Council notice - boards and email versions can be obtained from the Clerk.

The next Parish Council Meeting will be on Wednesday 11th September 2013 at 7.30pm in the Village Room.

Parish News is produced by Collingtree Parochial Church Council, on behalf of community groups within the parish.

The financial support of the Parish Council, and the Women's Institute is gratefully acknowledged. We also appreciate the support of our regular Sponsor, Central Foods.
